Community Development and Regeneration

- Participation in the arts and cultural activity can bring all of our communities together enhancing social understanding and harmony.
- Local based inclusive and accessible cultural facilities stimulate grass roots development and visibility.
- Central and visible base for community organisations and services raises profile and efficacy of whole sector, i.e. added value.
- Many new opportunities for volunteering and work experience (especially for young people at school).
 - The potential to build connections both cross culturally and geographically through art and culture has no limits – this is a global network!
 - Community cultural developments allow the reform and modernisation of community care.
